“In every generation we are instructed to see ourselves as though we came out of Egypt.”

Wouldn't it be wonderful if we could have a picture of ourselves or at least our ancestors, in that great moment? Well, we tried to get as close as we can. Download the picture and Photoshop members of your family and those around the table and keep it as a secret until seder night! You might want to produce it as a scroll and present it at a particular moment.

Maybe you can introduce the following conversation:

“Wouldn't it be wonderful if there had been selfies in those days? Maybe we'd even have been able to identify our ancestors? Wait a minute, perhaps we do have something...”

And then you encourage, especially the younger ones around the table, to gather round and see it for themselves. Then you can dramatise and bring alive that actually we did have it and we would recognise our ancestors.

Hope this really enhances your seder night.
